SINKING FUND STATEMENT

George Cameron, Jr., Presents Report as a Personal Privilege and It Is Adopted.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.) PETERSBURG, VA., Nov. 8.—Peters-burg's street improvement campaign suf-fered an untimely interruption at the hands of the Council yesterday evening. when the ordinance providing for the issue of $70,000 of city four per cent. forty year bonds, for paving, was defeated for lock of a two-thirds' vote. Only thirteen yoted for its adoption and nine against.

The bone of contention was the failure to include Old Street among the roadways to be improved. This caused opposition to the bond issue and defeated the ordi-Mr. George Cameron, Jr., chairman of

Mr. George Cameron, Jr., chairman of the Finance Committee, presented a statement from the sinking fund commissioners, which he asked might be read as a personal privilege, in view of criticisms that had been made. The statement was a lengthy and detailed exposition of transactions relative to a saic 542,600 of city of Petersburg four percent, bonds at 102 1-2, which were held by the sinking fund and the purchase by the linking fund of $45,000 Virginia three her cent, bonds. The statement was adopted and published.

Tetersburg Chapter, United Daughters of the Confederacy, held a called meeting yesterday at A. P. Hill Camp Hall and extended a vote of thanks to all who ided the success of the recent convention.

FOR STEALING JEWELRY. A Railroad Man Charged With This Offense.

Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
ALEXANDRIA, VA., Nov. 8.-W. O.
Pollard, a passenger flagman in the employ of the Southern Railroad Company, was held for the grand jury by Justice Caton in the Police Court this morning on the charge of stealing several articles of jewelry, valued at about $500, the property of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. C. Dodge, of Washington. The missing jewelry was found in a trunk at the residence of Politard on King Street, There were twenty or thirty articles, including a ladiest g idring with twenty-seven small diamonas and a necklace with twenty-eight pearls, when confronted with the charge Politard asserted his innocence, declaring that he had found the jewelry disappeared while in transit over the Southern Railroad from Haymarket, Va., to Washington, October 23d. As he failed to furnish ball this morning Pollard was remanaed to prison.

ball this morning Pollard was remained to prison.

The wholesale robberles of merchandise from railroad cars in this city, which have been committed with astonishing frequency in the past few months, are now lieing throughly investigated by the police. The result is that a room at the station house is packed with articles which have been recovered by the officers. The goods are miscellaneous, including automobile tires, several hundred shoes, sole leather, tobacco, eggs, flothing guns and many other things. The officers state that most of the articles were found on the premises of Constable Mordeal Hurst, of Failrax county, who was arrested a few days ago on the charge of having stolen goods in his possession, and who was released on his own recognizance for a hearing November Liupon representations of railroad officials to the effect that he had been engaged to purchase the stolen goods.

THE COST OF CAMPHOR

Increased Frice in This Country Not Due to Russo-Japanese War.

FORMOSAN FARMERS IN IT

Have Reduced the Supply Because of Dissatisfaction With Policy of Japan.

"The war between Japan and Russia," says Pres West, of the American Cam-phor Redning company, "has not affected the price of camphor, as so many people think. The war is not being conducted in Japau, and so does not interfere with the manufacture. Nor has the Japanese government, which owns the camphor monoply, made any war export tax n camphor on camphor.

"There was a heavy jump in the price of camphor, and it happened to coincide with the beginning of the war. But it was not consequent on the war, nor on any governmental move by Japan.

"At the conclusion of the war between the conclusion of the war between the conclusion of the war between the conclusion."

Japan and China, Japan as the victor took the island of Formose, the chief took the island of Formose, the chief source of the camphor supply, for her own. In furtherance of a protective policy, Japan then cut down the price she paid for camphor to the Formosa farmers. Now, though Formosa raises camphor, she is not utterly dependent on it for a livelihood. Further than that, a rest from the ax would do the camphor trees no harm. So the Formosan farmer said to the Japanese government that if the Japanese government would not pay the Formosan farmer the same price for the Formosan farmer the same price for camphor that it paid to the Japaness farmer, why then the Formosan farmer vould rase no camphor.

"The price of camphor here went from 51 cents to 33 cents. After awhile, from various causes, it sagged back to 62 cents, where it is to-day. I expect that there will be a change of some sort in a week or 10 days.

"The camphor arrives here in its crude state in tubs. It is something like brown sugar in consistency, and comes into the crystaline cake only after refining. Camphor evaporates rapidly; the tubs lose anywhere from 1 to 5 per cent. In weight during transit to this country, and then the crude camphor loses 25 per and then the crude camphor loses 25 per cent. more in refining."

"Then the wonder, considering the distorce it comes, is that it should be so cheap, instead of that it should be so high?"

of high Mr. West smiled. "Is the whole use of campher in pre-terving and moth-preventatives, and i medicine?" "No, indeed;" its principal use is in the manufacture of celluloid."
"Is there any hope in chemical cam-pher, to be manufactured here?"

"Oh, I believe that one day we shall get it. Camphor is a hydrocarbon, and get it. Camphor is a hydrocarbon, and it schemical composition is well enough known. The only trouble now is that there, is one extra molecule of oxygen in intural camphor that the chemists haven't been able to get litto synthetical campior. The consequence is that what they made is another substance, but not camphor. It has not the properties of campior and cannot be used as a substitute for it in making celluloid.

"Scarge of factories have been built, and thousands of dollars have been spentifying to make camphor synthetically. Then the factory blows up or the money runs out, and another attempt is given out, and another attempt is given But they'll get it sooner or later."-
